The boundary is not static: it moves with agent design, not capability